

As i understand it, this would allow banks to call as often as they would like.. Currently they are allowed to call, and anything further is for commercial purposes and not for collection purposes.

I'd like to see this considered as an alternative to giving them full power to call.

I do not wish to see this abused, nor does my phone company want to lose its business due to excessive torture from the blood leeches that tend to call themselves businesses.

And I am considering getting rid of it.

I don't recieve any important calls, i recieve mainly emails.

If i have to remove the protection from them calling every hour as sears does, removing the phone will be a top priority.

Currently, Sears calls once every hour on the hour from 9 to 9.

I do not wish to see another band of "collectors" calling me from 9 to 9 as well.

It would be different if they called 1-3 times a day, but when you have 25 dollars worth on a bill and you don't pay and they call you 12 times.. thats seriously wrong. Reasonable is 3 times at most.
